Visiting During Respiratory Illness Outbreaks

How to safely visit in a continuing care home or a supportive living accommodation

Keep yourself and others safe during a respiratory illness outbreak.

- Stay home if you're ill
  - Reschedule the visit if you're ill.
  - In some circumstances such as at end of life, arrangements may be made to visit a resident even if you're ill.
- Before you visit
  - Stay up to date with your influenza and COVID-19 immunizations.
  - Ask about the number of visitors allowed at one time.
  - Find out what can be brought in such as food and personal items.
- When you arrive
  - Follow posted instructions at the entrance of the facility.
  - Check with reception before your visit and follow staff directions.
  - Use hand sanitizer or wash your hands and use respiratory etiquette.
- Protect yourself and others
  - Wear a mask in common areas.
  - Wear a gown, gloves and mask if you're visiting a resident who is isolating.
  - Keep distance between yourself and others.
- When your visit is over
  - Visit only one resident.
  - Leave immediately after your visit is over.
